

MUSICOLOGIST: AN INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF MUSIC STUDIES

Aims & Scope

Musicologist is an international refereed journal, aiming to publish original scholarly papers in the fields of historical musicology, music theory and ethnomusicology. Subject of our journal are the ethnomusicological studies and related disciplines which include the examination and collection works, and the studies of music evaluated within the musicology discipline. We also welcome articles that contain all kinds of theoretical and methodological problems related to them.

The content of the journal consists of the following topics:

- a-) Original articles based on research that will fill a gap in their field
- b-) Promotional and criticism articles that will contribute to the development of the field
- c-) Translated articles that will contribute theoretically and methodologically to music studies
- d-) Collections from the fieldwork or written sources.
- e-) Presentation of audio materials with field notes and ethnographic studies
